FACULTY OF LAW

Manav Rachna University, Faridabad, Haryana

N

estled amidst the Aravalli range, the newly established Faculty of Law at Manav Rachna University (MRU) is training its first batch of 180 students at the undergraduate level through cross-discipline, innovative course design and radical pedagogy. Founded in 2017, the institute offers specialised programmes such as BA LLB in constitutional law and crime and criminology; BBA LLB in business law and intellectual property rights; and B Com LLB in law relating to finance and international trade. With emphasis on experiential learning, students are given to comment on case studies in each subject and are taught to compare old cases with new ones, to draft briefs, make logical arguments and supplement it with correct legal reasoning and organise a weekly debate. "Knowledge of law alone is not sufficient to become a good lawyer. At MRU, domain skills are complemented with soft skills and this together with knowledge of a foreign language gives students an edge in the domestic and global market," says Jose Verghese, Professor Emeritus, MRU, adding, "The institute also organises various student development programmes, moot court competitions, stimulus exercises and interaction with experts.

USP A language lab that helps students hone their leadership skills and communication abilities in English and foreign languages

Courses offered BA LLB (Hons), BBA LLB (Hons), B Com LLB (Hons), and one-year LLM

Entry Through merit in MRNAT (Manav Rachna National Aptitude Test)

Fee Tuition fee is ₹1.83 lakh a year for all undergraduate programmes and ₹1.26 lakh for LLM
