

Ridhi Bhatia is a B.Com. (Honours) graduate from Hansraj College, Delhi University and an MBA from Fore School of Management. She is pursuing her PhD from the University School of Management Studies, GGS Indraprastha University. She has worked in the corporate sector at managerial positions and from last nine years she is into academics teaching finance and accounting courses to management students. Her areas of interest are Behavioral Finance, Financial Markets and Financial Management. She has published papers in reputed journals and presented her research at national and international conferences in the areas of finance.